Secure Data Share – Without a License

Fun fact: every time you download a Power BI report to share data with a client or vendor, a DCG member cries a little inside. Okay, not literally, but there IS a better way to provide custom reports to specific audiences! Through Power BI Embedded, you can securely share active data with outside stakeholders and identify what information they value most – all without purchasing additional licenses.

Benefits to Your Business

- Provide specific analytics for individual stakeholders outside of your organization
- Gain insight by identifying which individuals interact with your data
- Discover what data is used the most
- Safeguard confidential data
- Save money on additional Power BI licenses

Benefits to Your Customers & Vendors

- Monitor individual performance metrics in near-real time
- Gain quick access to active reports with single sign on
- Discern progress towards goals anytime, anywhere

How DCG Clients Leverage Power BI Embedded

1

A leading enterprise data analytics company provides customers with insights into gender pay equality. This company uses Power BI Embedded to display up-to-date metrics to customers without exposing proprietary algorithms and calculations without the use of additional licenses.

A well-known professional services firm uses Power BI Embedded to share project status and accounting data with their clients during implementation and consulting with near real-time data rather than static data reports.
